Ok, before i had heard that there wsa no exact date on the planned release of the stand alone 3D Designer program. Now i am hearing that 3D Designer should be released by late summer. This will be great. It will be one of the most productive and most affordable 3D piping products available. Plus, the accuracy of the ISOs and Orthos dropped from the 3D model will make 3DX look like an absolute joke.

Does anyone know how much it will cost for the new 3D?

Since it will be under the FlexPLANT series and not the FlexCAD series it should go for about $1495.
